

EXT. BUS STOP - DAY

BILLY
I don't think Bus Driver Richardson likes me.

PAUL
Why you say that?

BILLY
Because just last week he told me so.

Flashback to a week earlier. Billy is standing in the door of the bus.

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON
I don't like you.

Flash back to present time.

PAUL
Oh, well he might have been joking.

Flashback to bus.

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON
He pulls down a picture of Billy with a red slash going through it.

I'm not joking.

Back to present day.

PAUL
Did you ask why?

Flashback to bus.

BILLY
Why?

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON
You know why.

Back to present day.

BILLY
I don't know why! I'm just trying to get to class on time.

The bus arrives.

PAUL

Here's the bus now. Maybe he's not driving today. They walk to the bus. Richardson opens the door.

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON

Well, well, well. Look who it is.

BILLY

We just want to get on the bus.

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON

Yeah, sure. Come on Paul.

Paul gets on the bus. Richardson looks at Billy.

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON

You coming?

Billy tries to get on the bus a few times, but every time he does Richardson closes the door.

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON

OK, get on. For realzies this time.

Billy tries getting on the bus. Richardson drives forward than stops. Drives forward than stops. Drives forward than stops.

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON

You'd better come on or you'll be late.

BILLY

(panting)

I am late!

Sheri walks by and gets on the bus.

SHERI

Stick'n it to 'em?

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON

Stick'n it to 'em real good.

BILLY

Sherri? She's just a classmate.

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON

Oh, is that it? That's how you see it, you low life.

BILLY
This is a waste of time!

Sheri starts crying. Richardson comforts her.

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON
There, there.
(turns to Billy)
You monster!

BILLY
What did I do?

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON
As if you don't know.

Flashback.

INT. RESTAURANT - DAY

Sheri's all dolled up at a dinner. Billy barges in with a leather jacket. Knocks over a table. Punches a waiter. Approaches Sheri.

BILLY
Want to use my pencil?

SHERI
No I do not! I'm a lady.

BILLY (spits in her face)
Fine! I'll ask someone else.
(knocks over a chair then exits)
Back to present day. Billy stands in the bus door flabbergasted.

EXT. BUS STOP - DAY

BILLY
That is not what happened!

Flashback.

INT. THE ROT - DAY

Sheri's at a table studying. Wearing a sweater vest, Billy stumbles over an employee. He looks around and notices that Sheri just broke her pencil. He approaches her.

BILLY
(nervously pulls out a spare pencil)
Want to use my pencil.

SHERI
No I do not! I'm a lady.

BILLY (confused)
Fine?...I guess I-I'll--.

He sneezes on her by accident. They look at each other awkwardly.

Sorry, I'll go ask someone for a napkin---

He slips and knocks over a chair. Feeling very embarrassed, he runs off.

EXT. BUS STOP - DAY

Present day.

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON
And you expect me to believe that?

BILLY
Uh, yeah. She's crazy!

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON
Don't talk about my daughter that way.

BILLY
Sheri's your daughter?!?

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON
Every girl on this campus is my daughter.

BILLY
But have a final tomorrow.

SHERI
Later loser.

The bus drives off.

BILLY
Billy two can play at this game.

The next day, Billy in a ridiculous disguise walks on the bus. Believing it worked he gets off the bus at the first stop. He realizes he's in the middle of nowhere.

BILLY

What the?

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON

Thought you could pull a fast one on me?

Richardson drives off. Billy tries running him down. He pulls out a lasso and roller skates then tries to rope the back of the bus. It doesn't work. Billy instead trips and lands in a pond.

INT. CLASS ROOM - DAY

Billy sitting at a desk, while everyone else is exiting.

PAUL

I'm glad the prof is letting you retake the test today.

BILLY

Me too. She can't attend so they're sending a sub.

PAUL

Who?

BILLY

Does it look like I know?

Just then, Bus Driver Richardson enters.

BILLY

What are you doing here?

BUS DRIVER RICHARDSON

I'm the substitute.

BILLY

No!!!!!!
